BUILDING MATERIALS PRICE INDEXES

Original terms The price index of materials used in house building in Hobart decreased by 1.0% over the twelve months ending November 1996. This compared with the national average, which increased by 0.2% over the same period. Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide and Perth all recorded increases over the period, with Adelaide being the highest, at 2.1%.

For materials used in other than house building, the Hobart price index recorded an increase of 0.7% over the twelve months ending November 1996. Other state capitals that recorded increases in the index were Brisbane, Adelaide and Perth; with Adelaide being the highest at 1.5%. The index for the weighted average of the eight capital cities remained the same as for October 1996.

Major contributors to the change in Hobart over the twelve months ending November 1996 were paint and other coatings (up 7.0%), fabricated steel products (up 4.7%) and structural steel (up 4.6%). These rises were partly offset by falls in the prices of structural timber (down 8.2%) and non-ferrous pipes and fittings (down 4.8%).
(See tables 15 and 18, pages 11 and 13.)

² Changing productivity per staff-hour makes these indicators unsatisfactory for long-term comparisons.
³ Includes the whole milk equivalent of farm cream intake.
⁴ Includes butter equivalent of butter oil.
⁵ Includes spinning, weaving and carpet making. Reported by establishments which manufacture textiles only, or manufacture clothing and textiles in the one plant.
⁶ Excludes production of directory newsprint and high grade specialty paper.
⁷ Metallurgical refining index (Base: 1979-80 = 100.0) Output from selected establishments covering the smelting and refining of ferro-alloys, zinc and aluminium. The weighting pattern is based on the establishments' value added as derived from the 1979-80 Manufacturing Census. For multi-product establishments, value added was apportioned to products on the basis of gross receipts from each product.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

INTRODUCTION

1 This publication contains latest figures for a comprehensive range of economic indicators. Statistics shown in this publication are the latest available at the date of preparation and may be subject to revision in subsequent issues. In a number of cases figures appearing in this publication are preliminary and are subject to revision in subsequent issues. Reference should therefore always be made to the latest issue or to the statistical publication on the specific subject.

SEASONAL ADJUSTMENT AND TREND ESTIMATION

2 Seasonal adjustment is a means of removing the estimated effects of normal seasonal variation from the series so that the effects of other influences on the series can be more clearly recognised. Seasonal adjustment does not aim to remove the irregular or non-seasonal influences which may be present in any particular month. This means that month-to-month movements of the seasonally adjusted estimates may not be reliable indicators of trend behaviour.

3 The smoothing of seasonally adjusted series reduces the impact of the irregular components of the seasonally adjusted series and creates trend estimates. These trend estimates are derived by applying a 13-term Henderson-weighted moving average to all months except the last six. The last six monthly trend estimates are obtained by applying surrogates of the Henderson average to the seasonally adjusted series. Trend series are used to analyse the underlying behaviour of the series over time.

4 While this smoothing technique enables estimates to be produced for the latest month, it does result in revisions to the most recent months as additional observations become available. Generally, subsequent revisions become smaller and after 3 months have a negligible impact on the series. Revisions also occur as a result of the annual review of seasonal factors.

5 Users may wish to refer to the ABS Publication A Guide to Interpreting Time Series – Monitoring 'Trends' – An Overview (1348.0) for more detailed information on smoothing seasonally adjusted time series data.

RELATED PUBLICATIONS

6 Current publications produced by the ABS are listed in the Catalogue of Publications and Products (1101.0). The ABS also issues, on Tuesdays and Fridays, the Release Advice (1105.0) which lists publications to be released in the next few days.
